ORDERS TO POLICE FORCE ISSUED BY POLICE COMMITTEE.

Stringent Rules Laid Down for Members of the Finest and They Are Expected to Be Obeyed to the Letter.

WILL CLEAR BRIMSTONE CORNER

Profane Language Is to Be Suppressed and in Fact the Force Has Work Ahead That Will Keep Them Excitingly Busy 24 Hours a Day.

The new Town Council broom is sweeping clean. If the Police Committee stands by the order issued to the coppers Tuesday evening and see that they are enforced, some radical changes will happen in the patrolling of the borough. The officers met the Committee and Burgess Solsson in the Council room promptly at seven o'clock, and were given their orders. All three members of the Committee, Frank Friel, J. J. Huston and J. B. Millard, talked to the men, as did the Burgess. The policemen were very attentive and apparently took heed to the advice given.

In the future, according to the Committee's orders, policemen are not to enter hotels under any circumstances unless they are called there or go to make an arrest.

Another rule, if enforced, which will throw consternation into those who frequent Brimstone Corner, is to the effect that the police are to allow no one to remain in that vicinity more than five minutes. This will be a hard job to those who hold down the brick pavement about there, especially on Saturday nights. Profane language will be suppressed as far as possible.

At the appointed hour the Burgess, Clerk R. W. Solsson and the Police Committee assembled in Council room, Chief Rottler and Patrolmen McCudden, Francis, Detemple and McDonald being present.

Chairman Frank Friel of the Police Committee made the first address. It was short but to the point. He said, in part:

"You policemen are, or should be, familiar with the rules that govern the working of this department. We are here for the purpose of telling you exactly what we expect. While on duty you are not to enter a hotel unless called there to make an arrest. I understand there has been some 'knocking' on the force in the past. Out it out. We want no knocking on this police force. You are expected to work together in order to preserve the peace of the borough, and if you don't do it we'll get someone else who will."

"Last Saturday night I was on Brimstone Corner and it was almost impossible to pass. It's up to you officers to keep that thoroughfare clear. Make the people move. If any man stands around there more than five minutes you have the right to arrest him and you will be expected to do so unless he gets a move on. Chief Rottler will be in charge of the force and we will hold him responsible for the observance of these directions."

Rev. J. J. Huston was the next man to address the officers. His address was rather long, but was couched in determined terms. Among other things he said:

"The position of a policeman is important. The people of Connellville look to you for the proper conduct of all persons on the streets. This is a difficult task to perform, for here we have people from all parts of the world, speaking many languages. I believe the people can get a good example for righteousness. There is nothing so strong for the enforcement and respect for law than for the police of town to observe it. Obey the law yourselves and have others do so. Become familiar with the borough ordinances. As long as you do your duty you will have the support of Council, but you will not have this support if you fail. Stand close to your Burgess and encourage him. He is a good Burgess and will insist that the rules are obeyed. You should give him your support if you expect his. He has performed a good work during the past few weeks in taking persons for using profane language on the streets. This is a practice that should be stamped out. We want to see you men purge the town of this habit, so that ladies may walk along our streets without being insulted or humiliated by hearing these words. I realize that you men often come in contact with persons who would gladly take your lives. May the Lord spare your lives and bless you."

Rev. Huston then shook hands with each of the officers. Councilman Millard had but a few words to say. He declared that politics did not figure in the personnel of the police force and the men who fall in their duty will not be given the support of Council. He wished the officers much success in the performance of their duty.

Burgess A. D. Solsson then made the closing remarks. He said: "The faces before me are familiar. I know all of you men and have worked with all of you, except one. I am sure he will do his best. The ordinances are very plain and it is up to the Burgess to see that they are enforced. I have tried to do so in the past and will continue to do my best in the future. A policeman has a very long time on many occasions and is up against many things. You all know your duty and when you do that you do your best. I hope you will do this in the future."

TRUSTEES RESIGN.

Officials of St. Paul's Orphan Home Resent Action of the Reformed Synod.

Special to The Courier.
GREENSBURG, Mar. 20.—Five Trustees of the St. Paul's Orphan Home at Butler resigned at a special meeting of the Reformed Church Synod here yesterday on account of the failure of the meeting to endorse their action in purchasing the John Brown farm, near Greensburg, as a home site. The meeting, after a spirited evening session, ended in chaos, with little accomplished towards a settlement. It will be six months before the regular meeting of the Synod and before any further action can be taken. This, it is said, will greatly interfere with the work of the Home.

The resigning members were J. E. Kunkle of Greensburg, Rev. A. J. Heller of Connellville, Rev. J. S. Neil of Greensburg, Rev. A. S. G. Heller of Greensburg and Rev. W. L. Smith of Wilkesburg. John Brown's farm was purchased for $10,000 and has been his home, and is situated on a site in the Westmoreland county courts which now, since the repurchase of the site by the Synod, will likely be settled. The Greensburg farm, near town, is also offered for a site, for $10,000. Much bitter feeling has developed over the matter of the selection of a site, and the sessions of yesterday were at times very personal in their arguments, for and against the proposed locations.

PRISONER RELEASED.

Burgess Solsson Would Not Hold Peter Lynch Because Witnesses Didn't Appear.

Peter Lynch, who resides on Cummings avenue in classic Dutch bottom, was arrested by the police Tuesday afternoon for raising a disturbance at home. He was given a hearing before Burgess Solsson that evening but the case was held over until this morning owing to the absence of witnesses. None appeared and Lynch was permitted to go. Burgess Solsson declared that he will not hold any man who is arrested upon complaint of persons who will not appear against the prisoner.

Andy Tocani, a foreigner from Leisensburg No. 2, was arrested for being drunk at the B. & O. depot early this morning. He raised the necessary $2.50. Patrick O'Donnell of Grand Port was arrested on a similar charge and took $5 hours.

William Deveretts of Syracuse who has been working at some summer resort, the name of which he did not remember, but which evidently must have been Onondaga, was arrested for being drunk. He is slightly deaf and it was with difficulty that conversation was held with him. He raised the $2.50 fine and was released.

HELD IN HUNGARY.

Resident of Fayette City Imprisoned Because He Won't Serve in Army. Frank Vesely, a naturalized citizen of Fayette City, is in jail in Hungary where the military authorities are trying to make him serve three years in the army, according to the laws of that country.

Vesely has written Congressman A. P. Cooper, who has taken the matter up with the State Department at Washington. Vesely was robbed of his naturalization papers and all the money he had by a companion in Hungary while on a visit to his native home a few weeks ago.

'LIZE MAKES TROUBLE

After Release From Bastille She Drinks Carbollic Acid and Then Fights.

"CROW" HUNTER THE VICTIM.

Mrs. Settles of the Tenderloin District Tried to Commit Suicide but Poison Only Made Her Mad—Uses Beer Bottle to Good Effect.

Eliza Settles, who was arrested Monday night in blocking the sidewalk on Main street and who nearly choked the driver of an Over Arch building, raised the $2 fine imposed by Judge Solsson and was released Tuesday in the morning. The same evening she raised another run in the Tenderloin and there was considerable excitement in that portion of Arch street for a while. Eliza is alleged to have taken a teaspoonful of carbollic acid with suicidal intent, but the poison failed to do its fatal work. If she Eliza is a decidedly bad humor, however, and half of the reaction was needed to keep her quiet.

Tuesday night, when half a dozen colored people of local fame were holding her down, in an effort to quiet her Eliza became angrier. She wrested loose and picking up a beer bottle belted one "Crow" Hunter, whose given name is William, over the head. The blow felled a man on several inches long in the middle of "Crow" forehead. The gentleman, resembling the insult, immediately went before Square Park Miller and made information against the "Settles" woman in assault and battery. The hearing will likely be held some time today or tomorrow.

NAMED COMMITTEES.

Special to The Courier.
VANDERBILT, Mar. 20.—President of Town Council Samuel E. Porter has appointed the following committees: Street, J. C. Moore, S. G. McBurney and R. D. Koser; Finance, S. E. Porter, S. C. McBurney and J. W. Green; Sanitary, J. C. Moore, D. R. Koser and W. J. Reed.

Last year there were a number of committees, but President Porter thought that three are all that are necessary to look after the affairs of the borough.

CLAYTON RELEASED.

Information Against Him Withdrawn by Officer.

Smith of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad, charged with robbing a mail sack from the yardmaster's office at Dickerson Run, has been released. CRIMINAL COURT RECORDS BROKEN.

Jury Discharged This Morning, All Cases Having Been Disposed Of.

THE POWDER PROSECUTIONS.

Agreement Has Been Reached by Which Main Points in Dispute Will Be Left to the Court for Decision. Dynamite Will Be Moved in 30 Days.

UNIONTOWN, Mar. 20.—All records were broken in criminal court this week when the jury was discharged this morning with the thanks of the court. Tuesday evening Judge Tindel informed them that all the cases on the list had been disposed of except those against the various powder companies, and directed them to report this morning in a case that an agreement was reached between the parties interested in these prosecutions. An agreement was reached, however, and the jury was permitted to leave. A session of court will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning when the civil trial list for next week will be read over.

After a long conference, between those interested in the powder prosecutions, an agreement was reached Tuesday evening whereby the main points in dispute are to be left to the court to decide, although the defendant companies reserve the right to take an appeal. Indemnities charging common nuisance have been made against the Lullin & Rund and the Dupont Powder companies, as well as those charging the operation of factories without a known place of business in the county and failure to make a financial statement as required by law. Carl E. Koser, Superintendent for the Dupont company, has also been indicted for acting in that capacity for a company not having a known place of business.

There are several main points in the dispute. One is whether or not there shall be a reduction in the amount of black powder to be stored in a magazine. The defendant companies want the right to store 5,000 25-pound kegs, while Attorney D. M. Horvath, representing the prosecutors, stands out at 2,500 kegs. Another point is whether or not the minimum distance between magazines shall be changed. The court is to determine the distance. The powder companies have agreed to remove all dynamite from their magazines within 30 days, removing a serious menace to the community. An attorney will be appointed as a commissioner to take testimony in the case and report to court. The attorneys on each side will try to reach an agreement on this matter.

Annie Moore, the young girl charged with the larceny of $30 from a M. Braddock house, was found guilty and recommended to the mercy of the court.

No New Cases.
No new cases have been received at the Cottage State Hospital within the last forty-eight hours.

Coke traffic on the Southwest branch is heavy.

RAILROADS AGAIN SUFFERED.

Traffic on the Pittsburg Division of the B. & O. Interfered With, Tracks Down the River Being Blocked—A Slide Near Markleton.

For several hours Tuesday evening it appeared that the Youghiogheny river would reach a stage fully as high as that which did such tremendous damage throughout this section last week. With the same rapid rise which characterized the former flood, the river came up within three feet of the high water established a week ago, and all within 12 hours. This rise was caused by the heavy rain of Monday night and Tuesday morning, which was one of the worst storms of the season, especially at the headwaters of the Yough and Casselman. It rained hard again Tuesday evening, but this morning the Yough had fallen several feet.

The river did but little damage in this section, but below here it caused trouble. Some parts of McKeesport were inundated and street car service is impaired. The power house at Rankin is unable to start, having been out of commission for the past week.

The heavy rains almost put the Pittsburg Division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad out of commission again. Landslides were plentiful along the entire division, the worst slide being between Hamilton and West Newton. Tuesday afternoon an immense boulder weighing many tons, fell from the hill above the tracks a short distance west of Smithfield. At this point the eastbound track was the only one open. The rock came down with terrific force, jumping over the siding and west-bound track and landing on top of the eastbound rails, knocking them out of line. It was necessary to use dynamite and blast the rock clear of the track. This accident happened after the No. 47 passed Hamilton at 15, following a loss behind, was delayed two hours by the accident. After this slide others occurred, two had ones coming down in almost the same place, while between Reduction and West Newton there were several just as bad. Large forces of men are at work today clearing up the debris. As the Baltimore & Ohio is only operating one track at many points along the division at present the delays are numerous and difficulties plentiful in moving trains. Late Tuesday night a pile of dirt, rocks and gravel fell on both the main line tracks about half a mile east of Broad Ford, leaving only the No. 3 track open. No. 4 track was filled with coke cars. As it was necessary to flag the trains down this track by hand much delay was encountered. These slides threw passenger trains behind schedule and almost killed the division up. Trains Nos. 4, 12, 8 and 10 were from two to four hours late arriving in town. The first train to arrive from Pittsburg after No. 14 was No. 4, due here at 4:20 P. M. It got in at 10 o'clock. No. 10, which came over the Pennsylvania tracks, arriving at 1:45 this morning, two hours late. No. 5 was late arriving from the east, getting here at 10:25 P. M. It was run to Pittsburg over the Pennsylvania railroad. Trains Nos. 7 and 13 were consolidated and run over the same route; followed by two immigrant trains.

The Connellville Division is not without its troubles, although but one bad slide occurred. A big pile of dirt and debris landed on the rails about half a mile east of Port Hill, near Markleton, blocking both tracks. This occurred about 3 o'clock this morning. The eastbound track was opened by dint of hard work at 11 o'clock today. Trains Nos. 9, 11, 57 and 10 were delayed by the accident. Breakfast was served the passengers on No. 10 at Rockwood about noon today. It was shortly after noon that the delayed west-bound trains arrived in Connellville. Trains Nos. 48 and 6 were late arriving here from Markleton this morning, there being many delays encountered on the Pittsburg Division.

FEW TO BEAR BURDEN.

Western Pennsylvania Would Have The Big End of Tax to Pay.

REVENUE TO BE DISTRIBUTED.

Of the Proposed $1,260,000 to Be Raised by One Cent Per Ton Tax on Coal the Western Counties Would Contribute About $1,000,000.

[From the Weekly Courier.]

HARRISBURG, Mar. 19.—Under the legislation to place a tax of one cent on coal, about nine Western Pennsylvania counties would stand the bulk of the burden. They would contribute almost $1,000,000 of the $1,260,000 which the bill would raise, taking as a basis the tonnage for 1905. While 27 of the 67 counties are engaged in the mining of bituminous coal, the big output comes from Allegheny, Fayette, Cambria, Clearfield, Indiana, Jefferson, Somerset, Washington and Westmoreland.

The revenue to be derived from these 27 counties is to be distributed over the State. At present these coal companies are paying a tax on their capital stock, loans, gross receipts and bonus. This money all goes to the State. In addition a heavy local tax is paid on the coal and if the coal tonnage tax is imposed there will be less development and the revenues now raised from these corporations will diminish.

The great development field of the State is in the west. With this development comes increased revenues for the State. The farmer sells his coal lands and puts his money out at interest. The State gets four mills. The greatest example of coal development today in the State is in Indiana county. In the past few years the fields of that county have been opened to the markets, and in 1905 over 5,000,000 tons were mined and employment given to 7,700 men. The tax of one cent would penalize the enterprise of that community to the extent of $50,700.

The authors and promoters of the coal tax bill have no knowledge of the subject. Speaker Frank McChesney has no intimate knowledge of the conditions and other conditions surrounding the mining and marketing of bituminous coal. He prepared the bill and gave it to Joseph Howard of Cameron to present. There is one coal mine in Cameron county, and it is run in the interest of an iron company. Of its total tonnage in 1905 but 430 tons were shipped to the outside markets. In all, 150 men find employment. The proposed tax would cost Cameron county $612.93 a year.

The figures on the tonnage in the 27 counties are not obtainable for 1906, as those of 1905 are given in the table printed below, showing the number of tons mined, number of employees and the tax which the operators, the consumers or the miners of each county would have to pay at the rate of one cent a ton.

In 1905, 59,489,863 tons of coal were shipped by rail and water. This meant that practically all of it went outside of the State and was in competition with the coal of other States which can be mined for a less rate.

The coal used for making coke amounted to 27,310,721 tons. Based on the production of 1905, the companies mining 500,000 tons or over would have to pay the following tax:

THE COAL TAX GRAB AND GRAFT.

The bill taxing bituminous coal one cent per ton is one of the most glaring examples of special taxation recently proposed, and it is said to be fathered by the Speaker of the House himself. The Speaker is from a county that produces no bituminous coal, or any other kind of coal. He ought to know that the consumer pays the tax and he probably does know it, but he also knows that Lancaster county uses relatively little bituminous coal. His constituents would pay an infinitesimal share of the coal tax and receive a goodly portion of its revenues. It's a good bargain for Speaker McClain's constituency, and for the same reason it is an unjust and inequitable tax. It is estimated that the bill will put $1,260,000 annually in the State Treasury, and that the amounts paid by the coal operators of this county and vicinity will be as follows:

Fayette	237,200
Washington	231,725
Allegheny	110,975
Somerset	61,938
Cambridge	120,290
Total	662,550

Western Pennsylvania pays practically all of the tax, and the counties mentioned pay nearly three-fourths of it. The share of the Connelville coke region alone is about 87 per cent. It's the lion's share.

It is true as an economic proposition that the consumer pays the tax, but not always all of it. Labor has to bear more than its share at times, and the producer at others. Much of the coal and coke produced in Western Pennsylvania is consumed here, and thus in some proportion more than a due share of the tax falls back upon us.

If the financial condition of the State were such as to demand extraordinary tax measures, there might be some excuse for this bill. We have in times of stress levied burdensome and unjust taxes, but most people have paid them like the patriots they were. The same people cry out against the injustice of extraordinary and oppressive taxation in times of peace and plenty, and ask: Wherefore the cause? There can be but one answer, namely, Extravagant expenditure; and this is the kind of expenditure that begets graft. The new State Capitol is a magnificent example of what moral rotteness unlimited public funds can make. This is no time for Grab and Graft.

POLICE REGULATIONS THAT SHOULD BE ENFORCED.

The rules and regulations laid down for the government of the new police force of Connelville are wise and proper; strictly followed they will insure substantially to the public good and the good of the force; but they have a very familiar sound. Instructions of the same nature, though perhaps not quite so positive in their terms, have been given before. They were respectfully listened to by the police, and as calmly ignored when the guardians of the peace were safely out of the presence; and the presence has been blind and deaf to the subsequent proceedings. It is within the power of the Police Committee to effect a reform in this connection. If the police are made to understand that the instructions are not given as a mere parade of public virtue, but that departure therefrom means official decapitation, the rules will be effective; otherwise they will not.

The instructions to keep out of hotels and barrooms unless called there to make an arrest are but a plain pointing out of the policeman's obvious duty. Drinking on duty is bad enough in a business, and especially so in a policeman. He can have no other business in a barroom or a hotel unless called there in the line of his duty. The Brimstone Corner order is a more difficult proposition. Ever since Connelville has become a populous town all efforts to keep idlers and loafers away from this center of business have proven failures, chiefly for the reason that the proper effort was never made.

The West Penn trolley system makes this corner a stopping place for all its cars, and this now adds to the difficulty of keeping the streets clear. Many persons are compelled to wait there for their cars. It will not be wise to persecute or embarrass innocent people or visitors to our town. It is good business on our part to treat visitors well. We want them to come back and to come often. It is true, the West Penn company should provide a proper waiting room for its passengers, but it is also true that they have been trying to buy a suitable location and build such a waiting room. It is to be hoped that they will soon succeed in this undertaking.

THE SAGE MILLIONS.

The late Russell Sage was so busy he hadn't time to be philanthropic. A Wall Street man has to spend all his time dodging the corners. He hasn't time to sit down in peace and content, with a heart full of kindness and plan the happiness of humanity, when he knows his neighbor is busy on the other side of the fence going ready to throw stones into his plum tree. Russell Sage perhaps meant that at least a portion of his colossal fortune should go to the uplifting of the nation, but he hadn't time to plan it out nor the inclination to divert any portion of the wealth that buttressed him against the assaults of wealth. It is natural and proper, therefore, for his aged widow to occupy her remaining years in doing the good work her husband no doubt expected her to do, and despite her age she seems to be doing it intelligently and effectively.

It is becoming a question whether the quality of coal does not bear the same relation to the consumer that the quality of whisky bears to the customer who said, "Some whisky is my better than others, but none's best."

J. V. Thompson has not wavered in his faith concerning the future of Greene county's extensive coal field, either for or against it. He knows that the railroad will come to the mountain when the mountain is ready to receive it.

The Coal Tax bill should be labeled, "A bill to tax the Connelville coke region and the coal fields adjacent thereto."

The flood added bulk and weight to the Connelville coke supply, in which respects it was not seriously detrimental to the operators. It's an ill flood that brings down no driftwood.

The Dare-Devil Yough is not to blame. It's the devilish weather.

Wheeling is trying hard to find a coal field in her back yard, so that her businessmen won't have to come over and play on the Connelville coke yard. When the Board of Trade is through testing for coal, it ought to test its ability to build that Greene county railroad.

Brimstone Corner loafers will please take notice that they may walk right up, but they must turn right around and walk right on again.

Mexico is still buying Connelville coke. It wants the best, not the cheapest.

The President of the Reading railroad says the President of the nation is a descendant of the Dutch canal diggers. The latter might retort that Dutch has been one of the big coal diggers for some time past.

The Police Committee wants to stem the flood of profanity that assails the ears of ladies and children on the streets. It is a dirty deluge, but it might be materially diminished by enforcing the local police law.

The carbolites seem to want to have a hot time.

Appropriation schemes multiply at Harrisburg. The bare mention of a million dollar coal tax has started a flood of money-spending schemes, but the publication of the laws is still regarded as being too expensive by some of the lawmakers. They are probably of the snake-charmer class, legislative snakes can't endure the light.

Wall street clerks may think they are overworked, but just now they are gentlemen of elegant leisure compared with the wall paper clerks.

"The tie that binds" doesn't bind very tight if it has been previously bound.

When the Youghiogheny delegation next visits the Elvers and Harbors Committee to urge an appropriation the members should equip themselves with a batch of flood pictures.

Fire Alarm Foraker will be very much put out by the Brownsville confession.

Judge George Gray of Delaware is being boomed for the Democratic nomination for President. The boom is small, but eminently respectable.

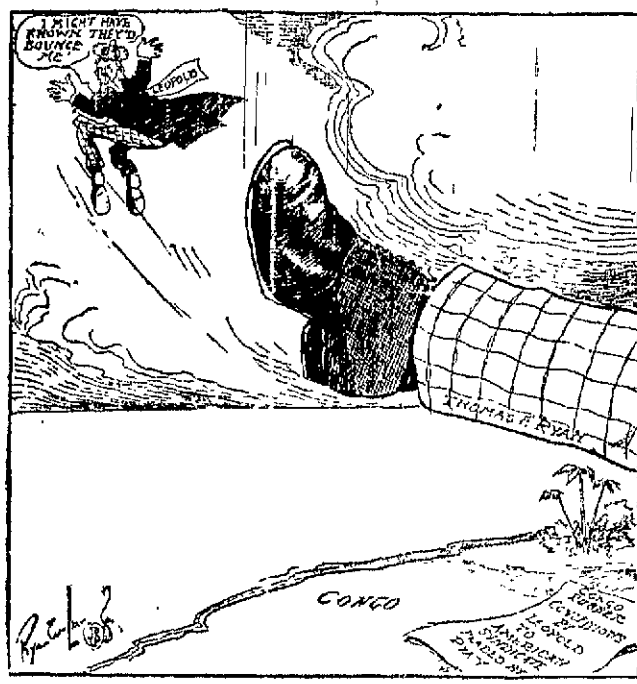

Greensburg is singularly unfortunate in locating new religious and charitable institutions. A desperate attempt to annex Tiffin College was ruled out by the courts, and an attempt to pick an orphan home from Butler county has been defeated. Greensburg should quit the habit of enticing and set up in business of establishing.

"Keep to the right and keep moving" is a rule of crowded thoroughfares, and it is the rule the Connelville police are instructed to enforce.

We are certainly having more than our share of water just now. It is to be hoped that nature won't try to even up during the summer.

When the hills of Somerset are about what can the valleys below expect?

The Confluence man who went down in the flood seems to have traveled by rail in a box car without the knowledge or consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Probably what will happen to Kine Leopold in the Congo when the Concessions to our Great American Pharocelets get in working order.

The Astor Courtesies.

The Donora American declares that the proposed free bridge at the place never existed says on paper and for Congress purposes, and that it is probable including to leave the bridge. Connelville people have been chewing the lemon until their teeth are all on edge, and it is a pity that the determination of the bridge is not to have a taste of the sweet news of freedom from burdensome tolls. Donora is now you. She has not learned the lesson of patience.

The Meyersdale Republican acknowledges the obligation of generous people to Congress in regard for the rural free delivery route to be secured for that county. Connelville people are the representatives at Washington of Somerset county just as well as Fayette and Greene, and it does not ask thanks for its service to his constituents, but only their appreciation.

The Meyersdale Commercial declares the terrible fact that the town has a T. and T. district. There is such a thing as being too enterprising.

The Duquesne Observer invites the West Penn Lighting Company to take the contract for lighting that place. The West Penn is the light that never fails.

Also that we'll be pleased to have you see these whether you wish to buy now or later, here or elsewhere. Of course we would like to have you consider this your home store, but anyhow come in and get acquainted with these goods, you, and the prices too.

We call particular attention to the suits that we are showing for $25.00, both silk and cloth. Show me suits at this price that do the best advertisement this department could have, and we ask you to take a look at them and see if this is not so.

Separate Skirts.

They come in service in the spring, cool evening in the summer, are worn all through the fall and are comfortable on a good many winter days. We would like to have you see these.

White Waists.

Starting at $1.00 and from that price up to $3.00 and $10.00. We have an assortment to show you but it is worth seeing and worth buying too. Waists that you'll not find shown elsewhere in this vicinity.

CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERSHIP NOW ON IN THE Y. M. C. A.

There Are Six Teams Out for Names and Each One of them Is Composed of Sixty Members.

CAPTAINS AND LIEUTENANTS.

Teams Are Named Palefaces and Indians, Soldiers and Tigers, Bulls and Bears—Great Interest Manifested and Hot Times Expected.

The campaign for new members in the Young Men's Christian Association has begun in dead earnest and every man in Connelville and vicinity will be given an opportunity to take out a membership in that popular institution. Six teams have been organized for aggressive work. There are about 60 members in each team. Each team has a captain and two lieutenants. Among the senior men there are three teams officered as follows: The pale faces are led by Worth Kilpatrick as captain and Bert J. Thomas and J. B. Marfetta as lieutenants. The Indians' leaders are W. N. Leche, captain, and H. J. Bell and E. W. Horner lieutenants. For the soldiers Joseph McConnell of the Shigo mill is captain and S. B. Dobbs and Dr. T. B. Richard are lieutenants. The younger men under 25 years of age are led by Henry T. Ashe and his lieutenants are Ernest Murrie and Eugene Bishop. This team is known as the Tigers. There are two teams among the boys, known as Bulls and Bears. Donald Reid is captain of the Bears. He is supported by Arthur Buttermore and Edwin Olson as lieutenants. The Bulls are led by Clarence Port, captain, and Milton Bishop and Howard Ankey, lieutenants.

The beautiful loving cups offered as prizes are on display in the lobby of the Association. A. B. Kurtz surprised the Association by donating a fine loving cup to be given to the boys' team that brings in the largest number of points, each dollar of membership fee counting a point. There are four classes of membership, sustaining which is $10 a year, full which is $5 per year, educational $5 and juniors $3 per year.

The colors chosen by the teams are: Palefaces, white; Indians, red; Soldiers, blue; Tigers, yellow; Bulls, brown, and bears, black. The time for the close of the contest was set forward to April 19 by the Board of Directors at their meeting last night. The Board also gave Mr. Kurtz a hearty vote of thanks for the beautiful loving cup put up by him for the junior teams. Pendants in the colors of the teams will be displayed from the Y. M. C. A. flag pole showing the standing of the teams, the one leading will have the highest place and the others in the order of their standing. Great interest will be manifested for the remainder of the time and some hot times may be expected.

AMERICA.

Play of the Locomotive Fireman on April 1 and 2.

If we don't miss our guess the production of "America" to be given at the Colonial Theatre on the nights of April 1 and 2 under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will be the best home talent production ever seen in Connelville. Rehearsals are being held every afternoon and evening and they are progressing nicely.

In the east are over 150 persons. The main part of the program will be spectacular and between acts will be introduced many pleasing specialties. It wouldn't be far from the mark to say now, but we feel safe in saying that all who attend will not be disappointed.

QUIET WEDDING.

Marriage of John L. Snyder and Miss Ola Jane Trombley.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of Carl Snyder, North alley last evening. John Lyons Snyder and Miss Ola Jane Trombley, daughter of John Trombley, of Gibson avenue, South Connelville, were married by Rev. W. B. Bassett, pastor of the South Connelville Evangelical Church. The ceremony was attended only by the immediate members of the family and was followed by a buffet lunch.

The groom is an employee at the Baltimore & Ohio shops. The young couple will go to housekeeping with the bride's father at South Connelville.

LEASED ECHO COAL MINE.

Harrie-Smith Coal & Coke Company Operating Near Fayette City.

The Harrie-Smith Coal & Coke Company, whose main offices are in Uniontown, have taken control of the Echo coal mine on the P. & E. near Fayette City, which is owned by Andrew Brown, the Fayette City banker.

This mine produces from 200 to 250 tons of coal per day and with an adequate output can easily be made 250 tons every day.

Boys' Haas Annex.

Thomas V. Baxter bought the Haas Annex, furnishings and lease from James W. Howard and will move in on April 1. Mr. Baxter will rent and furnish the house and open a first class restaurant. The sale was made by Real Estate Agent Jos. A. Mason.

PLAYER FARMED.

Connie Mack of Philadelphia American Sence Pitcher Here.

One of the best young pitchers in the business has been secured by Manager W. S. Malarkey of the Connelville team, arrangements having been made with Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics to farm John Woodruff to Connelville. Woodruff was carried all last season by the Athletics, but only pitched in a few games.

This year Mack wants him to get a little more experience. Connelville was unable to sign the player but he will play here until the Athletics may deal him, later in the season. Connelville fans should feel elated at the find.

From Westmoreland's County Seat.

GREENSBURG, Mar. 20.—J. J. Stehle, who represented the Greensburg Business Men's Association at Harrisburg last week in the interest of the proposed garnishment law made a good report before the Association last night. This law, which provides that 10 per cent. of a man's wages can be taken for a debt, is soon up for final passage. The five members of the Westmoreland county delegation promises to vote for the measure, which is especially desired by grocers and the smaller merchants throughout the county.

The Assemblymen, however, would not promise anything on the Food law, which will have a rocky road through the House. Mr. Stehle was well received by the lawmakers. Invited to the floor of the House and generally well treated. During his stay in Harrisburg Mr. Stehle tried to attend a number of meetings of delegates in favor of the laws in which he was interested, but these gatherings were always so crowded that it was impossible for him to gain admittance. Harrisburg is flooded with lobbyists each with his own particular story to tell, and the lawmakers are kept busy evading them.

Harry F. Peoples, a wayward youth who has been before the police in Westmoreland county for the past several months, was yesterday taken from the county jail to Morgantown by the parole officer. Peoples is 12 years old and a number of months ago was admitted to the institution. His conduct so improved that he was paroled but he soon fell into bad ways and was arrested with some other lad for larceny. He is an orphan, and has given the county authorities much trouble. He will be tried at June term of court.

BIG OPENING TODAY

Of Wright-Metzler Company on This Afternoon and Evening.

THE DECORATIONS ARE FEATURE

Display of Goods Is the Equal of Any Ever Brought to Connelville—Big Crowds of Shoppers Visit the Big Store to Inspect Display.

The spacious department store of the Wright-Metzler Company is in full attire for the third annual Easter opening which commenced this afternoon and will be continued this evening. The entire store has been transformed into a veritable spring garden. The large display windows are only a glimpse of the beauty of the interior of the store. Lavender and green is the color scheme used. Arranged on the side ledge extending the entire length of the store are gilded fences, the posts of which are decorated with large ferns. In front of each post are large flower pots bearing lilacs and illuminated lilies. Between the 11 spaces are draped goods of all the latest novelties. Over each space are illuminated arches entwined with lilac vines. Depending from each arch are large gold bells and 24-inch wreaths of lilacs from which are suspended floral baskets. Large bows of lavender ribbon extend from the circles to the ledge.

Around the three large posts in the center of the store are egg shells from which spring large branches of lilacs. Extending down the main aisles are gilded pedestals surmounted with 24-inch rabbits bearing 5-inch circles entwined with lilac vines. Suspended from each circle are baskets filled with bunny rabbits and eggs. Over the center aisles are flying cupids carrying floral baskets, while gilded lark-like scrolls from which are suspended floral baskets are arranged over the corner ledge. The large display windows are in keeping with the interior of the store. The mechanical arrangement in the east window is a feature. In the east corner of the window is a circular scenic effect mounted on a gilded lyre. In the circle there is a frame church showing miniature people entering and leaving the building. From the circle extends a gilded lattice work covered with trailing lilac vines. At either side of the window are large lark-like scrolls bearing baskets of lilacs.

A lavish display of millinery adds much to the beauty of the window. In the lower window is displayed a grand review of gents' furnishings. The beauty of the decorations is due to the skill of E. L. Shaugnessy, decorator. The display of dress goods blend in perfect harmony with the decorations.

On the second floor is a grand review of ladies' outerwear, including a large variety of evening dresses, waists, jackets, etc. The millinery department on the same floor is a fitting companion for this department. It would be utterly impossible to describe the display of millinery. Never were there so many styles to select from.

One of the leading shapes exhibited is the modified mushroom hat known as the Cloche hat. In colors the Copenhagen blue and navy are a speciality. Music is being furnished both afternoon and evening by Kiefer's orchestra, a special program having been arranged. From all indications the crowd will likely surpass any since the opening of the store.

THE PLUM TREE

BY

OF THE PLUM
TREE"

"But you aren't going to cut him off?"

"Just that," said I.

A long silence, then I added in answer to her expression: "And you must not let him have a cent, either."

In a gust of anger, probably at my having read her thoughts, she burst out: "One would think it was your money."

I had seen that thought in her eyes, had watched her hold it back behind her set teeth, many times in our married years. And I now thanked my stars I had had the prudence to get ready for the inevitable moment when she would speak it. But at the same time I could not restrain a flush of shame. "It is my money," I forced myself to say. "Ask your brother. He'll tell you what I've forbidden him to tell before—that I have twice rescued you and him from bankruptcy."

"With our own money," she retorted, hating herself for saying it, but goaded on by a devil that lived in her temple and had got control many a time, though never before when I happened to be the one with whom she was at odds.

"No—with my own," I replied tranquilly.

"Your own!" she sneered. "Every dollar you have has come through what you got by marrying me—through what you married me for. Where would you be if you hadn't married me? You know very well. You'd still be fighting poverty as a small lawyer in Poland, married to Betty Crosby or whatever her name was." And she burst into hysterical tears. At last she was showing me the secrets that had been tearing at her, was showing me her heart where they had torn it.

"Probably," said I in my usual tone, when she was calm enough to hear me. "So that's what you brood over?"

"Yes," she sobbed. "I've hated you and myself. Why don't you tell me it isn't so? I'll believe it—I don't want to hear the truth. I know you don't love me, Harvey. But just say you don't love her."

"What kind of middle-aged maudlin moonshine is this, anyway?" said I. "Let's go back to Junior. We've passed the time of life when people can talk sentimentality without being ridiculous."

"That's true of me, Harvey," she said miserably, "but not of you. You don't look a day over 40—you're still a young man, while I—"

She did not need to complete the sentence. I sat on the bed beside her and patted her vaguely. She took my hand and kissed it. And I said—I tried to say it gently, tenderly, sincerely: "People who've been together as you and I have, see each other always as at first, they say."

She kissed my hand gratefully again. "Forgive me for what I said," she murmured. "You know I didn't think it, really. I've got such a nasty disposition and I felt so down, and—that was the only thing I could find to throw at you."

"Please—please," I protested. "Forgive me a word that I'd have the right to use to any one."

"But I must—"

"Now, I've known for years," I went on, "that you were in love with that other man when I asked you to marry me. I might have taunted you with it, might have told you how I've saved him from going to jail for passing worthless checks."

"This delighted and this jealousy so long and so carefully hidden. Under cover of her delight I escaped from the witness stand. And the discovery that evening by Doc Woodruff that my son's emerald had a husband living put her in high good humor. 'If he'd only come home,' said she, adding: 'Though, now I feel that he's perfectly safe with her.'"

"Yes—let them alone," I replied. "He has at least one kind of sense—a sense of honor. And I suspect and hope that he has at bottom common sense, too. Let him beat her out for himself. Then he'll be done with her, and her kind, for good."

"I must marry him off as soon as possible," said Carlotta. "I'll look about for some nice quiet young girl with character and looks and domestic tastes." She laughed a little bitterly. "You men can profit by experience and it ruins to women."

"Just," said I. "But injustice and stupidity are the ground plan of life."

"We had not long to wait. The lady, as soon as Junior reached the end of his cash tried to open negotiations. Failing and becoming convinced that he had been cut off by his parents, she threw aside her mask. One straight look into her real countenance was enough for the boy. He fled shuddering—but not to me as I had expected. Instead, he got a place as a clerk in Chicago.

"Why not let him shift for himself, for awhile?" suggested Woodruff who couldn't have taken more trouble about the affair if the boy had been his own. "A man never knows whether his feet were made to stand on and walk with, unless he's been down to his uppers."

"I think the boy's got his grand mother in him," said I. "Let's give him a chance."

"He'll make a career for himself," yet—like his father's," said Woodruff. That, with the sincerest enthusiasm, but instinctively I looked at him for signs of sarcasm. And then I wondered how many "successful" men would, in the same circumstances, have had the same curiously significant instinct.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Under a Crayon Portrait.

It was not less than a month before inauguration. Daily the papers gave probable selections for the high posts under the approaching administration. Carlotta, and while many of them were attributed to my influence, Rebeck's son as ambassador to Russia was the only one I ever approved of. As payments for the services of the plutocracy they were unnecessary and foolishly lavish, as preparations for a nomination and reelection, the two guiding factors in every plan of a president-elect, they were propitious. They were first steps toward an administration that would make Scarborough's triumph inevitable, in spite of his handicap of idealism.

I sent Woodruff west to find out what Burbank was doing about the places I had pledged—all of them less honorable, but more lucrative offices which party workers covet. He returned with the news that, according to the best information he could get through his spies in Burbank's entourage, all our pledges would be broken, the Saylor-Burbank machine was to be made over into a Goodrich-Burbank.

I saw that I could not much longer delay action. But I resolved to put it off until the very last minute, moment while trying to force Burbank to send for me. My cannonade upon Goodrich in 6,000 newspapers, great and small, throughout the west and south, had been reinforced by the bulk of the opposition press. I could not believe it was to be without influence upon the timid Burbank, even though he knew who was back of the attack, and precisely how I was directing it. I was relying—as I afterward learned, not in vain—upon my faithful De Witt to bring to "Cousin James" attention the outburst of public sentiment against his guide, philosopher and friend, the Wall street foot-and-carry.

I had fixed on February 15 as the date on which I would telegraph a formal demand for an interview. On February 11 he surrendered—he wired asking me to come. I took a chance. I wired back a polite request to be excused as I had urgent business in Chicago. And 24 hours later I passed within 30 miles of Rivington on my way to Chicago with Carlotta—we were going to see Junior, hugely proud of himself and his $27 a week at the Auditorium a telegram waited from Burbank: He hoped I would come as soon as I could; he matters he wished to discuss were most important; me: I had always known that he was a thorough-and-through snob. For nearly an hour I watched his treacherous, childish delight in backing himself in himself, the wonderful fountain of all these honors. At last he finished, laid down his list took off his nose-glasses. "Well, Harvey, what do you think?" he asked, and waited with sparkling eyes for my enthusiastic approval.

"I see Goodrich drove a hard bargain," said I. "Yet he came on his knees, if you had but realized it."

Burbank's color mounted. "What do you mean, Saylor?" he inquired the faint beginnings of the injured god in his tone and manner.

"You asked my opinion," I answered. "I'm giving it. I don't recall a single name that isn't obviously a Goodrich suggestion. Even the Roosevelt appointment."

"Saylor," he interrupted, in a forbearing tone, "I wish you would not remind me so often of your prejudice against Senator Goodrich. It is unworthy of you. But for my tact—pardon my frankness—you prejudice would have driven him away, and with him a support he controls."

I showed my amusement.

"Don't smile, Saylor," he protested with some anger in his somewhat heavy voice. "You are not the only strong man in the party and I venture to take advantage of our long friendship to speak plainly to you. I wish to see a united party. One of my reasons for sending for you was to tell you how greatly I am distressed and embarrassed by the attacks on Senator Goodrich in our papers."

"I think the boy's got his grand mother in him," said I. "Let's give him a chance."

"He'll make a career for himself,"

"Did you have any other reason for sending for me?" said I very quietly. "That was the principal one," he confessed.

"Oh!" I exclaimed.

"What do you mean, Saylor?"

"I thought possibly you might also have wished to tell me how unjust you thought the attacks on me in the eastern papers, and to assure me that they had only strengthened your friendship."

He was silent.

I rose, threw my overcoat on my arm, took up my hat.

"Wait a moment, please," he said. "I have always found you very impartial in your judgments—your clear judgment has been of the highest usefulness to me many times."

"Thank you," I said. "You are most kind—most generous."

"So," he went on, not dreaming that he might find sarcasm if he searched for it. "I hope you appreciate why I have refrained from seeing you, as I wished to know, senator, your friendship was loyal. I know you did during the campaign what you thought wisest and best. But I feel that you must see now what a grave mistake you made. Don't misunderstand me, Harvey. I do not hold it against you. But you must see, no doubt you do see, that it would not be fair for me, it would not be in keeping with the dignity of the great office with which the people have in trusted me, to seem to lead me astray."

I looked straight at him until his gaze fell. Then I said my voice even lower than usual. If you will look at the election figures carefully you will find written upon them a very interesting fact. That fact is in all the doubtful states—the ones that elected you—Scarborough swept everything where our party has been before. Everywhere where we were elected by carrying districts where our party has always been weak. And in those districts, James, our money was spent—as you well know."

I waited for this to cut through his bewilderment of self-righteousness, waited until I saw its full effect into him. Then I went on. "I hope you

Tonsilline Prevents Quinsy

The Glands which cause Quinsy reach the deeper seated tissues by absorption through the top of the throat, causing the horrible pain. Quinsy is simply a development of Sore Throat to which some people are peculiarly subject. With a tedious or neglected Sore Throat terminates in Quinsy. With them, a quickly cured Sore Throat means Quinsy avoided and nothing cure Sore Throat as quickly and surely as TONSILLINE.

Many such letters as below prove TONSILLINE's value in preventing Quinsy. "Gentlemen—I have been subject to Quinsy for the last fifteen years and I have simply had to suffer from ten days to two weeks with it at every attack, never having been able to find a preventive, until I commenced using TONSILLINE.

Up until a year ago I had had ten attacks of Quinsy, but I have been able to avoid it twice since that time by the use of a 25 cent bottle of your remedy. Hoping that others similarly troubled will profit by my experience, and thanking you for what your TONSILLINE has done for me, I remain, Yours very truly, R. T. KEESEY, Chief Clerk, Erie, Pa., U. S. A. and U. S. N. Y.

Sufferers from Quinsy should always have TONSILLINE ready for instant use on first sign of Sore Throat. It is a safe and reliable remedy. The Tonsilline Co., Canton, Ohio.

"I have your assent," I insisted. "Really, Harvey—there was an astonishing change from his complete, superior voice of a few minutes before—I do what I can—but the impossibilities—the duties of—of my position—"

"You are going to take the office, James, said I. "You can't cheat the men who gave it to you."

He did not answer.

I pledged my word. "I went on 'You gave the promises. I intended for you. The debt must be met. Never before had I enjoyed using that neglect of words."

"You ask me to bring myself into unpopularity with the entire country," he pointed. "Several of the men on your list are ex-convicts. Others are about to be indicted for election frauds. Many are men utterly without character."

"They did your work, James," said I. "I guarantee that in no case will the unpleasant consequences to you be more than a day's dangerable but soon forgotten newspaper articles. You have over these fifteen years, nothing look at your career. That is two names on the list of the four Goodrich men—that I can't cast you blasts of public anger—perhaps the condemnation."

"Is this my friend Harvey, Saylor?" he exclaimed, grief and pain in that face which had been a mask to him. "I am as the sculptor use, the mold has clay."

"It is," I answered calmly. "And never more you I and than now when you have ceased to be a friend is very careful about her churn. She scolds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. It is not apparent then that if this stomach-tract is foul it taints food all which is put into it?

The cell of a food stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the sour and foul stomach, sweetens the food for the stomach, and the washing and sun bath do in the churn—absolutely removes every taint and corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scurvy, swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood. If you have bitter, nasty food taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have freckles on forehead, dizzy attacks, yawning or distressing sensations from indigestion, food or heavy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best hints known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms are contained in a small book, "The Food Stomach and Blood," which is absolutely true and will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. J. C. Rorer, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his book of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the reasons of all the failures of medicine in his world and explaining and showing what the most efficient medical men of the age say on the subject.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away—Connellsville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will cure your weakness. Dean's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Connellsville testimony to prove it.

Mrs. Sarah E. Finkel, of 775 Tenth Street, Connellsville, Pa., says: "I know that Dean's Kidney Pills is a good remedy for kidney trouble. Two years ago my son, Lawrence, complained for some time with severe pain in his back. There was no doubt that the kidneys were the cause of his trouble, and having through a friend the merits of Dean's Kidney Pills, he got a box and began using them. He had often said that the pain was so bad that he was all he could do to climb the hill to get home, but in a short time after beginning to take Dean's Kidney Pills the pain left him, and his experience has given as much confidence in Dean's Kidney Pills that we always keep a supply on hand."

INSANITY INQUEST FOR THAW IS ASKED FOR BY JEROME.

Request for Lunacy Commission Took Every One by Surprise for it was Entirely Unexpected.

DELMAS' CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

Thaw's Attorney Told Jerome to Throw Open the Doors but Was Not Looking for This Action—To Deny Signature on Hummel Affidavit.

Trials' Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—An insanity inquest to determine the mental state of Harry K. Thaw was asked for by District Attorney Jerome today. The step which had been rumored and looked for in an earlier stage of the trial came as a total surprise today, the day on which it had been expected that the taking of testimony in the case would be concluded. Jerome's request was made in an impassioned appeal to the court and climaxed a morning of legal fencing over the admission of testimony by Dr. Hamilton.

After his course had been completely blocked, Delmas asked for and received a recess to give him a chance for conference with his associate attorneys. Delmas announced that the defense accepted Jerome's offer to allow Hamilton to testify to all the facts in his knowledge about Thaw.

"Throw open the doors if you want to," he declared, "and I will not object, but let it all in."

Jerome threw them open and requested the court to execute an inquiry into Thaw's mental condition.

A rumor that was about the Thaw trial room early today was that David M. Carnegie, the handwriting and photographic expert who has been in court every day since the trial began, would take the stand to prove that the signature of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw to the Hummel affidavit is a forgery. It will be shown, it is said, that through clever photographic juggling, a genuine signature of Evelyn was transferred to the photographable copy of the last page of the affidavit offered in evidence. Evelyn will swear, it is stated, that the paper she signed for Stanford White was not like the sheets on which the carbon copy was prepared; also that she will refute the Hummel affidavit.

Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton was the first witness called by Delmas in the Thaw trial today.

Court was a few minutes late opening today, Justice Fitzgerald being tardy. Evelyn Thaw, May McKenzie and Mrs. Caine arrived early, followed by Mrs. William Thaw. When court adjourned yesterday the fight was hanging fire over the admission of letters written by the defendant to Blaker Lyon of Pittsburgh. Delmas sprang a sensation at the very beginning of the hearing by withdrawing the letter he offered last evening and calling Dr. Hamilton, who has been under subpoena by the State, to the stand. He made his first examination of Thaw June 27. When Delmas asked the witness to describe the examination, Jerome objected and considerable feeling and bitter talk was indulged in by Delmas and Jerome in argument on points on which the witness should not be asked to testify. The latter refused to be bound by any restrictions made by the "learned District Attorney."

HALF SERVICE.

Was All West Penn Could Give on Trolley Lines Tuesday Evening Owing to Machinery.

Owing to the condition of the machinery at the West Penn power plant above town it was necessary to cut trolley service throughout the region in half Tuesday night. Notices were posted in town by Superintendent J. W. Brown Tuesday afternoon to the effect that half service would be observed on the main line after 6 o'clock that evening. This was done in order that the lighting service might not be impaired.

As a consequence the cars were badly overcrowded, but it was the best that could be done under the circumstances. This region is faring better than many other sections and the company is entitled to much credit for having battled with the elements successfully.

The old man wept and cried out against fate. The story from Erie, apparently confirmed last night, brought hope to the father.

SPELLING BEE.

Successful Methodist Contestants May Try Christian Spellers.
The second annual "Old-Fashioned Spelling Bee" given by the Epworth League of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Sunday school room Tuesday evening, was a decided success in every respect. The attendance was large and all present had a great time. Refreshments were served. Miss Loretta McFary and Miss Anna McFary tied for first honors in the spelling bee. Both are Connelville school teachers. They stood up and recited words as fast as Interlocutor Leslie A. Howard could pronounce them and after spelling until 11 o'clock, they decided to quit. The words were about exhausted. It is possible that the ladies may attend the Christian Endeavor meeting of the Christian Church Thursday evening, when a similar spelling bee is to be held, and fight it out there. The Methodist is promised, if they attend, to show their Christian friends a few things about spelling.

In addition to the spelling bee the members of the Epworth League held an experience meeting, each member giving $1 and 10¢. In verse, how it was earned. The affair was greatly amusing.

LORAIN PLANT CLOSED

Strikes at Various Places Cause Suspension of Industry.
Lorain, O., March 20.—The affairs at the yards of the American Ship Building Co. went on strike, joining those workmen already out. Manager La Marche says that the additional strike will compel the company to shut down the hull department at once, affecting 600 men, and that the other departments will be closed as soon as the material on hand is used up.

Superior, Wis., March 20.—The trades and labor assembly of this city has taken a hand in the strike at the shipyards by declaring the yards unfair. The company is now making preparations to put on strike-breakers and may house a couple of hundred within the yards. Only a part of the men are unionized, and at that account it will be more difficult for the unions to effect a complete tie-up.

The man who has a aim in life and sticks to it persistently usually meets with success. The same thing is true of banks. For instance, it has always been the aim of the First National Bank of this city to serve its depositors to the best of its ability, holding their interests to be identical with its own. It has always aimed to be prompt, courteous and liberal and to render every service to its customers consistent with safety. This fixed policy has had a natural result. Today, the First National is the largest and strongest bank in Connelville and its business is constantly increasing.

Union Labor Locked Out.

BILL FOR MONUMENTS

Representative Lydick Asked for It With Fayette Man Member.

FOR THE HAMPTON BATTERY.

Pages in House Have Been Cut Out of Means of Making Extra Money Representative Sterling Is Making a Name for Himself in House.

Special to The Courier.
HARRISBURG, Mar. 20.—If a bill introduced in the House by Representative Lydick of Allegheny be enacted into law, the members of the Hampton Battery of Allegheny will be a member of a commission to erect monuments to the memory of the Hampton Battery of Pennsylvania Light Artillery.

The bill appropriates $25,000 and provides that two monuments be erected on each battlefield to mark the positions held by the Hampton Battery during the memorable but brief campaign of the Battle of Gettysburg. The work is to be done by the hands of Mr. Anshutz, Captain Robert E. Norton of Allegheny and James Peters of Westmoreland, all of whom were members of the famous artillery organization.

The pages in the House have discovered a new way to add to their earnings. These boys get $1 a day for each day they work and often manage to increase this as much as 100 per cent, through the generosity of members for whom they do special favors. But the boys are all contentedly grasping for the cash, and not for the honor.

Recently when an important committee hearing had been held in the hall of the House all of the chairs have been taken early. Late comers wanted seats and in most instances have prevailed upon a page to get a chair for them. For a time committee members wondered where the chairs in the committee rooms about the Capitol got to. Then it was found that an unusual number of chairs had reached the House chamber, having been brought out by the pages who had been surreptitiously speaking chairs out of committee rooms and carrying them to the House chamber for the use of visitors in crowded times, getting tips from cents apiece on. Now all this has been stopped and no more chairs will be so removed from committee rooms.

The veteran Tom Cooper, of Delaware, who was once ridiculed and humiliated and now says he is bald-headed and crippled, the veteran Tom who openly boasts of the floor of the House that he is a corporation man and proud of it, has a grudge. Monday night the resolution by Mr. Anshutz of Montgomery to place on the calendar the Ambler bill providing that no voter shall receive assistance in marking his ballot unless he shall swear that he is unable to do so without assistance, was taken up. The bill had been modified by the Elections Committee. The debate was long and exciting. After the members had talked themselves out the roll was called and the resolution was defeated. Mr. Cooper wasn't in his seat when the roll was called, having been called to the rear of the chamber. He and numerous other members tried to be recorded after the roll but this cannot be done except by unanimous consent and numerous objections were heard.

Tom didn't like this, but there was nothing to be done and he couldn't vote. Now, whenever the humor seizes him, which is about every quarter-hour, he will rise with solemn phiz, no matter how serious the subject under consideration, and get out something like this:

"At this point what he says is lost in a roar of laughter and the resounding whistles with the Speaker's gavel. Everyone, including the President of the House, knows what Cooper's after when he gets up, but under the rules a member must be heard and he is not until he shows himself out of order that the Chair can call him."

On two occasions during the debate on the Ambler resolution the Speaker had occasion to rebuke Representatives. The men who came under the lash are Thomas Z. Mincham of Philadelphia and Samuel B. Scott of Philadelphia. In debating the merits of the voter's assistance law which the Ambler bill promotes both Mr. Mincham who is a Democrat, and Mr. Scott, who is a Republican, expressed the opinion that there are men in the House who know all about law-making in votes for cast. And on each occasion there followed forth from the rostrum in such a ranting tone as no man in the House except Frank B. McChubb can command, the following sea-birding call to order:

"The Chair must remind the gentleman that the gentleman has no right to debate on the floor of this House to impugn the integrity or cast any reflection on the character of any of his fellow members of this House. The Chair expresses the strong hope that the Chair may not have to speak in this manner again."

Both Mr. Mincham and Mr. Scott apologized for their break each saying that no personal reflections had been meant whatever. A high of color that the phrase had not been serious, was made by the House, the members applauded the Speaker's declaration. The vote on the bill was 100 yeas and 100 nays. The bill was passed by a vote of 100 yeas and 100 nays.

"Will you kindly tell this House whom you mean when you say that 'they' buy and sell votes in Franklin county?"

"Certainly," retorted Mr. Mincham, "Democrats, Republicans and a few Prohibitionists." And the House applauded.

Representative Sterling, who is rapidly carving a niche for himself high in the local portion of the House, backed Representative Gabe Meyer of Lebanon up against the worst stage wall which Gabe has seen this season. The Lebanon man is a windy sort of a chap and it isn't often that a debate ends without him putting in his opinion. The debate was on the Fisher bill providing that cities, boroughs and townships can contract with street, subway or elevated railway companies to assist in improving the service of such carriers. The bill being an outgrowth of the troubles of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company.

Representative Sterling demanded after Meyer had spoken if the bill wouldn't act against the best public interests. He had a long following back of him and he stood at his desk in the rear of the House and hurled queries at Meyer who down from the galleries from a rapid-firing gun. The Lebanon man was nonplussed, couldn't answer and fell back on the Constitution. He got all tangled up and said that the bill is unconstitutional.

"Why, then," thundered the Fayette man, "do you argue for its passage?" "Well," answered Mr. Meyer, "I think the author of the bill knows more about it than I do," and he subsided into his seat.

And the applause which greeted Mr. Sterling wasn't interrupted by Mr. Fisher taking up the constitutional question. A moment later the bill was defeated.

The Predominating Millinery Styles of '07

found their inception during the Empire period of France, the period that governed our war-time styles, when the entire North was electrified by Lincoln's call for three hundred thousand more.

The fashionable woman of today can take the quaint little daguerreotype posed by her grandmother, in all the splendor of her short sleeves and poke bonnet, and find an exact counterpart in the styles of today. For the Dixie girl of the same period there's the drooping leghorn loaded with flowers, lending emphasis to the old saying, "History repeats itself."

Ours is a truly splendid assemblage of trimmed hats, reflecting the creative genius of the French milliner, together with adaptations from the French and original designs by our own artists.
